These works may be put into all kinds of locks without increasing their bulk, and the bolt may be made to take on one side of the lock or on the other. The lower ascending lever has an iron plate attached to it, the use of which, besides receiving the key and thus bringing it down to its central place, is, that it stands as a complete guard in front of the riding lever which descends. The lever on the top of the bolt is also of a new construction, having the lower levers working in its racks, and refusing to let them pass till it is brought to its proper position; on which account I have named it the master lever. I am, Sir, c. 8cc. 8cc. MOSES SOMEFORD. Reference to Mr. Someefoed s Door Lock, --Plate XIII Fig. 1, a front view of the lock, the upper plate being. removed; a a, the bolt (shown separate in fig. 4) having a longitudinal perforation, in each side of which are four notches opposite each other; b b, a plate of brass fixed to the bolt by the pin and collet c, under which it freely moves (shown separate fig. 4); this plate has a perforation with four notches in the upper side, and three in the under, corresponding with the notches in the bolt, but deeper; d d, a spring fixed to the side of the bolt acting on the protuberance b of the...
