Not illustrated. 1903 Excerpt: .of power transmission for dock appliances, such as cranes, capstans, and coal hoists; and, since both systems are equally reliable and convenient, the choice of one or the other depends entirely on which is the more economical, not only in regard to the cost of production and distribution, but also as regards the cost of utilisation. One system may cost considerably less to produce and distribute power, but in utilisation the gain in point of economy may not be in favour of that system There are, indeed, so many factors to be taken into account that, for purposes of comparison, and also to determine whether it would cost less or more to purchase or produce power, the cost of each system should be ascertained at three distinct stages, viz.: --(1) The cost of purchase or production. (2) The cost of transmission or distribution. (3) The cost...
