Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from The Gold Industry and Gold Standard Gold attracted the attention of primitive man by its color, lustre and indestructibility. The earliest mining and metallurgical operations of which traces remain were those in Egypt that dealt with the ores of gold. From pictorial rock carvings in upper Egypt, as also from Egyptian hieroglyphics, it is found that the search, desire, and use of gold extended back some 3000 to 4000 years before the Christian era. Starting with use as an ornament, gold soon became the trading counter and has been an emblem of value to the human race as far back as history extends. Appreciation of the value of gold has been maintained through the centuries by the difficulties connected with obtaining the metal. With early primitive methods, only the gold most abundant and easily worked and visible was first sought and this was found principally in alluvial deposits, but as knowledge, mechanical skill and tools and appliances were developed by the human race gold mining was extended to more difficult alluvial, vein, and lode deposits. Gold, when it became the counter of trade and a measure of possession, was the most eagerly sought of all possessions, and thus it became the pioneer and stimulant in mining, metallurgy and chemistry. The search for this precious metal became so intense that the alchemists sought its transmutation from other metals, which, though they failed to accomplish, won them other knowledge and gave birth to chemistry. The trading value of gold has been stabilized by history in that no superabundance was ever obtainable and it has always been necessary to expend labor and intelligence to an extent largely commensurate...
